*Following sections 6744a9-6744a10, Code 1918, quoted in Nos. 156-157, is this editorial note:

"Question whether sections 6744a9 and 6744a10 repeal sections 6744a1 to 6744a8. —Said Acts 1903, ch. 98, in its caption, purports to amend said Acts 1897, ch. 45, with a proper recitation of its title, and 'to make the law especially applicable to millers, manufacturers of flour, and all persons dealing in or selling flour in this State.' By the first section of the body of the act it is enacted that 'Chapter 45 of the Acts of 1897, passed March 19, 1897, be so amended as to read.' Then follows the matter as above compiled in sections 6744a9 and 6744a10. The question raised

18. Sale of Adulterated or Misbranded Food Prohibited—Violation is a Misdemeanor.—The manufacture, importation, or sale, or offering for sale of any article of food or drink, which is adulterated or misbranded, within the meaning of sections 6744a4 to 6744a6, is hereby prohibited in Tennessee, and any company or individual who shall knowingly receive from without the State or who, having so received, shall deliver for pay or otherwise, or offer to deliver or sell or trade any such article so adulterated or misbranded, within the meaning of sections 6744a4 to 6744a6, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and for such offense shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than one hundred dollars for the first offense, and for each subsequent offense, not less than two hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding one year, or both, in the discretion of the court. (Id. § 6744a1.)

19. Duty of State Board of Health as to Examination of Food and Drink—Bulletins of Information and of Convicted Violators—Violations to be Reported to District Attorney.—The State Board of Health† is hereby authorized and directed to establish, under such rules and regulations as it may think best, a properly organized and fully equipped chemical and biological laboratory, in which, with such expert assistance as they may elect, shall be made such examinations of food and drink, offered for sale in Tennessee, as may be collected, from time to time, under such rules and regulations as said board may prescribe, and results of such analyses or examinations, they shall publish in bulletins for the information of the people. But the names of the manufacturers or vendors of such foods or drink analyzed shall in no case be published, as hereinbefore indicated, until after conviction in the courts of violation of sections 6744a1 to 6744a7. If it shall appear from such examination that any of the provisions of said sections have been violated, the State Board of Health shall at once cause a report of the fact to be made to the district attorney for the district in which such violation occurred, with a copy of the results of the analysis, duly authenticated by the expert making the examination under oath. (Id. § 6744a2.)

20. District Attorneys to Prosecute.—It shall be the duty of every district attorney, to whom said State Board of Health† shall report any violation of sections 6744a1 to 6744a7, to cause proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted, without delay for the fines and penalties in such cases provided, unless upon inquiry and examination, said district attorney shall decide that such proceedings cannot probably be sustained; in which case said attorney shall so report back to said State Board of Health. (Id. § 6744a3.)

21. Definition of Terms Used.—The terms "food and drink," as used herein, shall include all articles used for food or drink by man, whether simple, mixed or is whether this statute operates to repeal the said Acts of 1897, ch. 45. The body of this statute does literally repeal the said act of 1897. But it is evident from the caption of this statute, that the legislature did not intend to repeal the said former act. The intention of the legislature as expressed in the caption, was to make the said act of 1897 especially applicable to millers, manufacturers of flour, and dealers therein; and, to give effect to this intention, the body of the statute must be construed to mean that said act of 1897 be so amended that the amendment shall read as therein set out; or that the said act of 1897 be so amended as to read, in addition thereto, as therein set out, thus interpolating the words 'in addition thereto.' This would not be a strained construction of the statute, and would evidently be giving effect to the intention of the legislature as gathered from the act itself. The specific and determinative question is whether or not the intention so gathered from the act itself shall prevail over the literalism of its terms. It is thought that the intention so clearly evident will prevail over the literalism of the statute. The said act of 1897 is comprehensive, and embraces a large subject-matter, with great detail of particularity, and providing for its enforcement, which it was desired to make especially applicable to millers, manufacturers of flour, and dealers therein, as stated in the caption of the said act of 1903. This strongly strengthens the idea that there was no legislative intention to repeal the said Act of 1897 by the said Act of 1903. The legislature recognized said Act of 1897 as being in force, and as not repealed or superseded by said Act of 1903, by its express amendment thereof by Acts 1905, ch. 508, as shown in section 6744a2. While such recognition is not conclusive, yet it is at least persuasive, as showing the legislative intention not to repeal said Act of 1897, by said Act of 1903, passed at the next preceding session to the session passing said amendment in Acts 1905, ch. 508. See Rose v. Wortham, 11 Pickle, 505, 509, 510, and citations; Const., p. 616, note 41; Code, note 5 under sec. 64a, pp. 28-30."

In further comment upon section 6743 et seq.: it is also a question whether or to what extent they are repealed by the subsequent law quoted in No. 1 et seq.

compound. The term "misbranded," as used herein, shall include all articles of food or drink (or which enter into the composition of such articles of food or drink), the package or label of which shall bear any statement purporting to name any ingredient or substance as not being contained in such article, which statement shall be false in any particular, or any statement purporting to name the substance of which such article is made, which statement shall not fully give the names of all the substances contained in such article in any measurable quantities. (Id. § 6744a4.)

22. Adulterated Articles, What Are.—For the purposes of sections 6744a1 to 6744a8, an article shall be deemed adulterated, in case of food or drink:

1. If any substance or substances has or have been mixed and packed with it so as to reduce or lower or injuriously affect its quality or strength, so that such product, when offered for sale, shall be calculated and shall tend to deceive the purchaser.

2. If any inferior substance or substances has or have been substituted, wholly or in part, for the article so that the product, when sold, shall tend to deceive the purchaser.

3. If any valuable constituent of the article has been wholly or in part abstracted so that the product, when sold, shall tend to deceive the purchaser.

4. If it be an imitation of and sold under the specific name of another article.

5. If it be mixed, colored, powdered, or stained in a manner whereby danger is concealed, so that such product when sold, shall tend to deceive the purchaser.

6. If it contain any added poisonous ingredient, or any ingredient which may render such article injurious to the health of the person consuming it.

7. If it consist of the whole or any part of a diseased, filthy, decomposed, or putrid animal or vegetable substance, or any portion of an animal unfit for food, whether manufactured or not, or if it is the product of a diseased animal, or of an animal that has died otherwise than by slaughter. (Id. § 6744a5.)

23. Articles Not Deemed to be Adulterated.—An article of food or drink, which does not contain any added poisonous ingredient, shall not be deemed to be adulterated in the following cases:

2. In the case of articles labeled, branded, or tagged, so as plainly to indicate that they are mixtures, compounds, combinations, or blinds [blends].

3. When any matter or ingredient has been added to the food or drink because the same is required for the production or preparation thereof, or an article of commerce in a state fit for carriage or consumption, and not fraudulently to increase the bulk, weight, or measure of the food or drink, or conceal the inferior quality thereof; provided, that the same shall be labeled, branded, or tagged, as prescribed by the State Board of Health,* so as to show them to be compounds and the exact character thereof.

24. Samples to be Furnished—Analysis.—Every person who manufactures or offers for sale, or delivers to a purchaser, any article of food or drink, shall furnish upon demand a sample of such article of food or drink to any person duly authorized by the State Board of Health* to receive the same, and who shall apply to such manufacturer, or vendor, or person delivering to any purchaser such article of food or drink, for such sample, for such use, in sufficient quantity for the analysis of any such article or articles, in his or her possession. And in the presence of such dealer, and an authorized agent of the said State Board of Health,* if so desired by either party, said sample shall be divided into three parts, and each part shall be sealed by the seal of the State Board of Health. One part shall be left with the dealer, one delivered to the State Board of Health, and one deposited with the district attorney for the district in which the sample is taken. Said manufacturer or dealer may have the sample left with him analyzed at his own expense, and if the results of said analysis differ from those of the State Board of Health, the sample in the hands of the district attorney shall be analyzed by a third chemist or expert, who shall be chosen and agreed upon by the said dealer and the State Board of Health, and the whole evidence shall be laid before the court. (Id. § 6744a7.)

*Following sections 6740-6742, Code 1918, quoted in Nos. 425-427, is this editorial note:

"Sections 6740-6742 are probably unconstitutional.—In the case of Inman v. State, as the owner, and in the case of Davis v. State as superintendent, both indicted for fraudulently packing bales of cotton with cotton seed and water so as to increase the weight, it was held that the statute was unconstitutional and void, upon the ground that it is arbitrary and unreasonable class legislation, in making the offense a felony against the owner or superintendent of cotton gin or tobacco establishment to do the prohibited thing, but excluding all other persons guilty of a like offense. However, it was held that the defendant might be tried and convicted as for a misdemeanor under another statute, evidently referring to section 6737; and for this purpose, both cases were remanded for trial on the charge of a misdemeanor. This decision was rendered by the Supreme Court, at Jackson, June 16, 1917, by an opinion delivered by Mr. Justice Buchanan, according to a newspaper report thereof, which stated that the opinion was filed; but the Supreme Court clerk states that no written opinion was filed. The newspaper report does not state that these sections were involved, but the statement of the decision clearly indicates that these sections were the ones involved. The decision seems to be clearly sound and well reasoned; and it seems that said sections are clearly unconstitutional upon the ground stated."

So help me God." (Id. § 577.)

433. Corporation Standard Keeper.—The corporate authorities of any city or town may appoint a standard keeper and sealer of weights and measures for such city or town, procuring and having verified suitable standards, at the expense of such corporation; and said officer shall have the same power and authority as the county standard keeper and sealer. director shall promptly remit such fees as collected to the State Treasurer. (Id. Art. 4469.)

6. Condemnation.—Any article of food or drug that is adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this law shall be liable to be condemned, confiscated and forfeited by a suit to be brought in the District Court of the county where said article of food or drug is located, in the name of the State of Texas as plaintiff, and in the name of the owner thereof as defendant, if said owner be known; if he be unknown, then in the name of said article of food or drug, and service shall be obtained as in civil cases. District and county attorneys shall file forfeiture and condemnation suits under this law at the request of the director. Said attorney shall be entitled to a fee of $15.00, to be paid out of the proceeds arising from the sale of the property condemned, said fee to be in addition to all other fees allowed by law, and shall be over and above the fees allowed under the General Fee Act of this State. In all proceedings begun under this article, either party may demand trial by jury, of any issue of fact joined in any such case. (Id. Art. 4470.)

7. Adulterated or Misbranded Food or Drug.—No person, firm or corporation, shall within this State manufacture for sale, have in his possession with the intent to sell, offer or expose for sale or sell or exchange any article of food or drug which is adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this chapter. The term "food" shall include all articles used by man for food, drink, flavoring, confectionery or condiment, whether simple, mixed or compounded. The term "drug" shall include all medicines and preparations for internal or external use recognized in the United States Pharmacopœia or National Formulary, and any substance or mixture of substances intended to be used for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease of either man or animal. (Id. Art. 4471; Rev. Crim. Stats. 1925, Art. 706.)

8. Definitions.—The terms "adulterated" and "misbranded," as used in this chapter, shall be held to have the same meaning as is given those terms in chapter two of Title 12 of the Penal Code.* (Rev. Civ. Stats. 1925, Art. 4472.)

9. "Adulterated."—For the purposes of this chapter an article shall be deemed to be adulterated:

(a) In the case of drugs:

(1) If, when sold under or by a name, recognized in the eighth decennial revision of the United States Pharmacopœia or in such United States Pharmacopœia as was official at the time of labeling it, or in the National Formulary, it differs from the standard strength, quality or purity laid down therein;

(2) If, when sold under or by a name not recognized in the eighth decennial revision of the United States Pharmacopœia, but which is found in some other pharmacopœia or other standard work on materia medica, it differs materially from the standard of strength, quality or purity laid down in such work;

(3) If its strength, quality or purity falls below the professed standard under which it was sold.

(b) In the case of confectionery; if it contains terra alba, barytes, talc, chrome yellow, or other mineral substances or poisonous color or flavor, or other ingredients deleterious or detrimental to health, or any vinous, malt or spirituous liquor or compound, or narcotic drug.

(c) In the case of food:

(1) If any substance has been mixed and packed with it so as to reduce or lower or injuriously affect its quality or strength;

(2) If any substance has been substituted wholly or in part for the article;

(3) If any valuable constituent of the article has been wholly or in part abstracted, or if the product be below that standard of quality, quantity, strength or purity represented to the purchaser or consumer;

(4) If it be mixed, colored or powdered, coated or stained in a manner whereby damage or inferiority is concealed;

*See Nos. 9-10.

(5) If it contains any added poisonous or other added deleterious ingredient which may render such article injurious to health, provided, that when in the preparation of food products for shipment they are preserved by any external application applied in such manner that the preservative is necessarily removed mechanically, or by maceration in water or otherwise, and directions for the removal of said preservative shall be printed on the covering of the package, the provisions of this act shall be construed as applying only when said products are ready for consumption;

(6) If it consists in whole or in part of a filthy, decomposed or putrid animal or vegetable substance, or any portion of an animal or vegetable unfit for food, whether manufactured or not, or if it is the product of a diseased animal, or one that has died otherwise than by slaughter.

"Filthy" defined.—The term "filthy" shall be deemed to apply to food not securely protected from flies, dust, dirt, and as far as may be necessary by all reasonable means, from all foreign or injurious contaminations. (Rev. Crim. Stats. 1925, Art. 707.)

10. "Misbranded."—The term "misbranded," as used herein, shall apply to all drugs or articles of food or articles which enter into the composition of food, the package or label of which shall bear any statement, design or device regarding such article or the ingredients or substances contained therein which shall be false or misleading in any particular.

An article shall also be deemed to be misbranded:

(a) In the case of drugs:

(1) If it be an imitation of or offered for sale under the name of another article;

(2) If the contents of the package as originally put up shall have been removed in whole or in part and other contents shall have been placed in such package, or if the package fail to bear a statement on the label of the quantity or proportion of any morphine, phenocetice, opium, cocaine, heroin, alpha or beta eucaine, chloroform, cannabis indicia, chloral hydrate, or acetanelid, or any derivative or preparation of any such substances contained therein;

(b) In the case of food:

(1) If it be an imitation of or offered for sale under the distinctive name of another article;

(2) If it be labeled or branded so as to deceive or mislead the purchaser or purport to be a foreign product when not so, or if the contents of the package as originally put up shall have been removed in whole or in part and other contents shall have been placed in such package, or if it fails to bear a statement on the label of the quantity or proportion of any morphine, opium, cocaine, heroin, alpha or beta eucaine, phenacetin, chloroform, cannabis indicia, chloral hydrate or acetanelid, or any derivative or preparation of any of such substances contained therein;

(3) If in package form and the contents are stated in terms of weight or measure, they are not plainly and correctly stated on the outside of the package;

(4) If the package containing it or its labels bear any statement, design or device regarding the ingredients or the substances contained therein, which statement, design or device shall be false or misleading in any particular, provided that an article of food which does not contain any added poisonous or deleterious ingredient shall not be deemed to be adulterated or misbranded in the following cases: First, in case of mixtures or compounds which may be now or from time to time hereafter known as articles of food, under their own distinctive names, and not an imitation of or offered for sale under the distinctive name of another article, if the name be accompanied on the same label or brand with a statement of the place where said article has been manufactured or produced; second, in the case of articles labeled, branded, or tagged so as to plainly indicate that they are compounds, imitations or blends. The term "blend," as used herein, shall be held to mean a mixture of like substances, not excluding harmless coloring or flavoring ingredients used for the purpose of coloring and flavoring only. Nothing in this law shall be construed as requiring proprietors or manufacturers of proprietary foods which contain no unwholesome added ingredients to disclose their trade formulas except in so far as the provisions of this law require to secure freedom from adulteration or misbranding. (Id. Art. 708.)

11. Preservatives Added.—No person shall manufacture, sell, offer or expose for sale or exchange any article of food to which has been added formaldehyde, boric acid or borates, benzoic acid or benzoate, sulphurous acids or sulphites, salicylic acid, or salicylates, abrastal, beta naphthal, fluorine compounds, dulcin, glucin, cocaine, sulphuric acid or other mineral acid except phosphoric acid, any preparation of lead or copper or other ingredient injurious to health. Nothing herein shall be construed as prohibiting the sale of catsups, sauces, concentrated fruits, fruit juices, and like substances preserved with one-tenth of one per cent of benzoate of soda, or the equivalent benzoic acid, when a statement of such fact is plainly indicated upon the label. The oxides of sulphur may be used for bleaching, clarifying and refining food products. (Rev. Civ. Stats. 1925, Art. 4473; Rev. Crim. Stats. 1925, Art. 709.)

12. Dealer Not to be Prosecuted, When.—No dealer shall be prosecuted under this chapter when he can establish a guaranty signed by the wholesaler, manufacturer, or other party residing in the United States from whom he purchased such article, to the effect that the same is not adulterated or misbranded within the meaning of this act, designating it. Said guaranty, to afford protection, shall contain the name and address of the party making the sale of such article to such dealer, and in such case said party shall be amenable to the fines and other penalties which would attach in due course to the dealer under the provisions of this chapter. (Rev. Crim. Stats. 1925, Art. 714.)

13. Certificates of Purity.—The State Health Department or any employee thereof shall not furnish to any individual, firm or corporation any certificate as to the purity or excellence of any article manufactured or sold to or by them to be used as food or drug or in the preparation of food or drugs. (Id. Art. 715.)

14. Obstruction of Officers.—No person shall willfully hinder or obstruct the director of the food and drug division of the State Board of Health, or his inspector or other person duly authorized by him, in the exercise of the powers conferred upon him by the laws of this State. (Id. Art. 716.)

15. Penalty for Violating Pure Food Laws.—Whoever shall do any act or thing prohibited, or neglect or refuse to do any act or thing enjoined by the preceding articles of this chapter, or in any way violate any provision thereof, shall be fined not less than twenty-five nor more than two hundred dollars. It shall not be necessary for the indictment to allege or for the State to prove that the act or omission was knowingly done or omitted. (Id. Art. 717.)

Such statement shall also show the quality of the milk or cream delivered by said patron, as determined by a test approved by the Commissioner of Agriculture, and the price paid for such milk or cream shall, in the absence of any agreement in writing providing for a different mode of payment, be based upon the quality as determined by such test. (Id. § 5935.)

68. Same; Penalty.—An owner, operator or manager of a creamery or cheese factory who fails to comply with a provision of the preceding section shall be fined not more than twenty-five dollars nor less than ten dollars for each offense. (Id. § 5936.)

While so doing he shall take cognizance of the condition in which milk or cream is delivered. If he has reason to believe that such milk or cream, or part thereof, is produced and kept under insanitary conditions he shall inspect, or cause to be inspected, the dairy and premises of the producer of such milk or cream, and shall make such recommendations and orders as in his judgment will improve such milk or cream to a medium standard. In case his orders or recommendations are not complied with he may order, in writing, the owner, operator or manager of such creamery, cheese factory, condensary or receiving station receiving such milk or cream and the owner, operator or manager of neighboring creameries, cheese factories, condensaries and receiving stations, to refuse to receive the milk or cream from such dairy until permitted so to do by order of said commissioner. An owner or proprietor of a creamery, cheese factory, receiving station or condensary who disobeys such order, or who fails to comply with the provisions of this section, shall be fined not more than fifty dollars for each offense. If, within sixty days after such recommendation, such creamery, cheese factory, condensary or receiving station does not comply with such recommendations, said owner, operator or manager, or, if the owner or proprietor is a corporation, any officer thereof, shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars nor less than twenty-five dollars. The owner, operator or manager of such a creamery, cheese factory, condensary or receiving station for milk or cream shall, if requested by said commissioner or his deputy, give him full access to all creamery records appertaining to the tests thereof, and said commissioner or his deputy may make transcripts therefrom. The results of the tests made by said commissioner or his deputy may, at the discretion of said commissioner, be communicated to the owner, operator or manager or to any of the patrons of such creamery, cheese factory, condensary or receiving station for milk or cream from which such samples have been taken and tested, or to all of them. The owner, operator or manager of such a creamery, cheese factory, condensary or receiving station, at which tests, under the provisions of this section, are made by said commissioner or his deputy, may require said commissioner or his deputy to take duplicate sealed sub-samples of all samples thus tested and to promptly forward the same to the Vermont Agricultural Experiment Station for further test, in which case communication of the results of the tests made by said commissioner or his deputy shall not be made to the patrons of such creamery, cheese factory, condensary or receiving station unless the same shall substantially agree with the results of the tests made by such experiment station, or unless the commissioner is notified by such experiment station that the samples were received in a condition unfit to analyze. The owner, operator or manager of such a creamery, cheese factory, condensary or receiving station, who requires the taking and forwarding of sub-samples, shall pay in advance all the carriage charges thereon and such experiment station for all tests made under the provisions of this section at the rate of ten cents for each milk sample and fifteen cents for each cream sample. The money thus received shall be used to defray the expenses incurred by such experiment station in connection with this section, but any balance that may remain after paying such expenses shall be paid by the director of such experiment station to the State Treasurer. Such experiment station shall report in duplicate to said commissioner and to the owner, operator or manager of the creamery, cheese factory, condensary or receiving station the results of such tests

Such license may be revoked by the commissioners for a violation of a provision of this chapter or of the general laws of this State. A company duly licensed under the provisions of this chapter shall, within five days after the first day of July, October, January and April, file with the commissioners upon blanks furnished for that purpose, a sworn statement showing assets, liabilities, income and disbursements and such other information regarding its financial condition as the commissioners shall require. The commissioners may at any time, in their discretion, require such company to file detailed statements of the business transacted by it in this State, and may at any time require it to give such bonds or additional bonds or may accept in lieu thereof such security by way of mortgage or otherwise, as they deem necessary. In case such company shall refuse or neglect to file such detailed statements or to give bonds or other security required by the commissioners, they may suspend the license of such company until such time as it shall comply with their orders. (Id. § 5727, as amended P. A. 1923, No. 103, § 1.)

The foregoing provisions shall not be construed to prevent such company from making payments weekly or bimonthly and in case such payments are so made such fact shall be taken into consideration by the commissioners in determining the amount of bond, mortgage or other security that such company shall be required to furnish; provided, however, that in case such company shall agree to make payments weekly or bimonthly, a memorandum of such agreement, duly sworn to by such company, shall be filed with said commissioners. When construing and enforcing the provisions of this chapter, the act, omission or failure of any officer, agent or other individual acting for or employed by any partnership, corporation, company, society, or association within the scope of his employment or office, shall in every case be also deemed the act, omission, or failure of such partnership, corporation, company, society, or association, as well as that of the individual. For each conviction hereunder, said Commonwealth's attorney shall be entitled to a fee of ten dollars, which shall be paid by the city or county in which said conviction was had upon an order from the judge of said court, and said fee shall be paid, notwithstanding the provisions of any law to the contrary limiting the salary or fees of Commonwealth's attorneys; and said fee shall be taxed as a part of the costs against the defendant, and when collected shall be paid into the treasury of said county or city. is reported by the Dairy and Food Commissioner to any Commonwealth's Attorney, it shall be the duty of the Commonwealth's Attorney to whom any such violation is so reported by the said commissioner, to cause the proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted without delay for the fines and penalties in such cases prescribed and upon the termination of such proceedings to report in detail to the Dairy and Food Commissioner the results of the same.

For every conviction in any case instituted by any Commonwealth's Attorney upon the complaint of the Dairy and Food Commissioner, the Commonwealth's Attorney prosecuting any such case, after he has reported the results of the same to the Dairy and Food Commissioner as hereinabove provided, shall be entitled to a fee of five dollars, which shall be taxed as a part of the costs in the case, as costs are taxed in other criminal cases, and execution issued therefor against the defendant; and said fee shall be paid notwithstanding any law to the contrary limiting or prescribing the compensation and fees of Commonwealth's Attorneys.

In any case of a sale or delivery of goods in violation of the provisions of the pure food or feeding stuffs laws, the person, firm or corporation making such sale or delivery, may be prosecuted either in the county or city in which such sale or delivery originated, or in the county or city in which the said illegal goods may be found by the Dairy and Food Commissioner, or his agents or assistants. The Dairy and Food Commissioner, with the approval of the Board of Agriculture and Immigration, shall make such reasonable rules and regulations as may be necessary for carrying into effect the foregoing provisions of this act; provided, that this section shall not be construed to apply to crackers or to such other bakery products as are packed at the place of production in cartons, cans, boxes, or similar permanent containers and where the product is so packed or sealed at the place of production as to fully protect the freshness and wholesomeness of the product and to protect it from contamination, adulteration and fraud in the channels of trade and which remains in the original unbroken package in which each bakery product has been packed, except insofar as may be necessary to prevent waste in the food supply; provided, further, the Dairy and Food Commissioner, with the approval of the Board of Agriculture and Immigration, may by rules and regulations establish such exemptions as may be necessary to facilitate the sale of any accumulated or unsold stocks of wholesome bread or other bakery products, but any such exemptions or sales shall not be in violation of the expressed purposes of this section; provided, further, that the phrase "permanent containers" shall not be construed to include the paper or permanent wrappers as used in wrapping loaves of bread. (Id. § 1420.)

142. How Salt Branded.—If an inspector of salt judge the same to be merchantable, and, if packed in barrels, that they are such as are required, he shall mark or brand each barrel, box, or bag, in a durable way, with the name of his county, and with the quality thereof, as number "one," "two," or "three." He shall also weigh each barrel, box, or bag, and mark the same in like manner, with the gross weight, and with the tare, allowing for each barrel of salt twenty-eight pounds for the tare. But if he finds that the barrel exceeds that tare, he shall cause the true tare to be marked thereon, for which he shall have an extra fee of one cent on each barrel, bag, or box. (Id. § 1421.)

143. How Alum Salt Branded.—In the case of alum salt (not to be exported in bulk), the inspector may examine the same in bulk, if desired, but shall, after it is packed, weigh and mark or brand the same, as directed in the preceding section, and also with the words "alum salt." (Id. § 1422.)

144. When He May Pass or Weigh Salt.—No inspector shall pass any salt in a barrel of larger dimensions than is prescribed; nor shall any salt be weighed by him until it lies twenty-four hours, at least, and such additional time after packing, as the inspector shall deem sufficient for draining it. (Id. § 1423.)

145. Certificate as to Salt Exported in Bulk.—In the case of salt intended to be exported in bulk, if the inspector find the same to be of the first quality, he shall grant to the owner a certificate stating the quality and probable quantity of the salt, the name of the vessel in which it is loaded, and the market to which it is destined. How to Brand Butter and Lard.—Each inspector of butter or lard shall examine all offered for inspection in tubs, firkins, kegs, or barrels, exceeding in weight fifty pounds; and shall brand or stamp the same, if fit to pass, with the number "one," "two," or "three," as he may judge it to be of first, second, or third quality. (Id. § 1425.)

When Articles Unfit to Pass, How Marked.—If any inspector of any commodity offered to him for inspection judge the same to be unmerchantable and unfit to pass, or not packed as required, he shall brand each such barrel, box, bag, cask, tub, firkin, or keg, so deemed unfit to pass, with the word, "condemned;" and if he judge such commodity merchantable and in good condition, except that the barrel is under the size required, he shall brand on such barrel the word "undersize," and at the same time brand thereon the true quality of the said commodity; and in the case of lumber or salt inspected in bulk, shall refuse the certificate required when the article is passed; and in the case of hemp, shall annex to each bale a label, stamped with the word "condemned." But such inspector shall, if required by the by the owner of such commodity, secure the same for a further examination. If no such examination, as hereinafter provided, be had within twenty days, or on such review the inspector's judgment be confirmed, he shall brand the same, if not previously done, according to his judgment. (Id. § 1428.)

148. Duty of Inspector, When Barrels Are Damaged.—If any inspector find any such barrel of any such commodity damaged or out of order, though not to such extent as to make it proper on that account to condemn it, he shall state, in writing, the cost of putting the same in good order, with the block or cooper's mark on the same, the grade of the article, and the maker's or packer's brand thereon, and deliver such statement to the owner of such article. The amount of damage thus ascertained shall be deducted from the price, if it has been sold, unless otherwise agreed, or unless the seller shall cause such barrel to be put in good order. (Id. § 1429.)

Review of Inspector's Judgment; How Costs Thereof Paid.—Any person offering for inspection any such commodity, which is adjudged of inferior quality, or condemned or refused by any inspector, may apply within twenty days after such inspection to a justice of the county or city for which he is inspector, who shall thereupon issue a warrant directed to three disinterested persons selected by him to review the inspector's judgment. They shall take an oath to discharge their duty faithfully; and if they declare such commodity to be merchantable or of better quality than it was judged to be by the inspector, he shall thereupon erase the mark or brand with which he may have marked the same, and mark, brand, or label it, as the said reviewers may direct; and in the case of lumber or salt inspected in bulk, grant a certificate or note in conformity with the reviewers' judgment; and in such cases the inspector shall pay the costs of the review, including three cents to each of the reviewers for each barrel of any commodity, or for every five bushels of salt, not in barrels, or fifty cents for each bale of hemp, or seventy-five cents for each thousand pieces of lumber, or six cents for each parcel of butter or lard received. But if the judgment of the inspector be confirmed by the reviewers, then the complainant shall pay the costs of the review, including the same compensation to the reviewers, besides the fees of inspection to the inspector, except that in the case of salt he shall pay the inspector ten cents for each barrel or every five bushels of salt. (Id. § 1430.)

Said permit shall be signed by the Commissioner of Fisheries and countersigned by the said inspector or police captain, and it shall be the duty of said commission to grant such permit whenever after examination by the commission of the seed area and public hearing, as hereinafter provided, the commission shall ascertain that it will not injure or deplete said seed areas to grant such permits and that the supply of seed oysters is in excess of demand for seed oysters by planters in the State of Virginia; and, provided, that the commission shall have power to cease granting such permits whenever after examination and public hearing, as hereinafter provided, the commission shall ascertain that said seed areas are becoming depleted, and that to continue to grant such permits would seriously injure the same. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be confined in the penitentiary for one year, or at the discretion of the jury, may be confined in jail not exceeding one year, and fined not exceeding five hundred dollars. (Id. § 1065.)

254. Inebriates, Their Commitment, Care and Treatment and Expense Therefor.—Any person who through use of alcoholic liquors or habit-forming drugs, has become dangerous to the public or himself, and unable to care for himself or his property or family, and for either of these reasons has become a burden on the public, shall, upon complaint of any person, be brought before a commission in the same manner and under the same process as is provided by law for commissions of insanity, and if said person shall be found by said commission to be in the condition above mentioned, such person shall be committed to a State Hospital for the Insane, as an inebriate, to be kept and held there until the superintendent of that institution shall declare such person cured and restored to his normal condition, when he shall be discharged, or paroled, as may seem proper to the superintendent of said institution. But every inebriate so committed and received at such institution shall be assigned and kept in wards separate and apart from the insane patients.

Every person committed under this section who has property in excess of the homestead and other exemptions to which he or she is entitled, shall be liable to said State Hospital for the purpose of covering expenses of treatment, at the rate of twenty-five dollars per month, while detained there.

How Inebriates, Opium Eaters, Etc., Committed to Private Hospitals.—Upon complaint in writing by any relatives, and in the event there is no husband, wife, father, mother, brother, sister or adult children residing in the county, city or town wherein such habitual drunkard, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits and lost to self-control resides, then by any two of the friends of the party to any justice of the peace of the county or city wherein said party resides (they having first agreed and entered into a bond, with approved security, to pay all costs incurred by the investigation and further proceedings) that any person is an habitual drunkard, opium eater or addicted to other drug habits, and lost to self-control, and that there is good reason to believe that said inebriate, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits would be benefited by treatment in a private hospital or sanitarium, it shall be the duty of said justice to issue his warrant ordering such person to be brought before him. He and two other justices shall inquire whether such person be an habitual drunkard, opium eater or addicted to other drug habits, and lost to self-control; and for that purpose shall summon his physician, if he have one, and if none, then some other physician practicing in the vicinity, and other friends. If, after such examination, which shall be in writing, it shall appear that the person so examined is an habitual drunkard, opium eater or addicted to other drug habits and lost to self-control, and that, in the opinion of said justices, the benefits of a private hospital or sanitarium would possibly restore such person to sobriety and self-control, then such justices, after said examination, shall, in their discretion, have power to commit the said inebriate, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits to a private hospital or sanitarium, with the consent of the authorities of such private hospital or sanitarium, there to remain under treatment until, in the opinion of such authorities, it will be safe to allow him or her to go at large. (Id. § 1070.)

257. What Time Such Inebriate, Etc., Shall be Compelled to Remain; Right of Appeal; Trial by Jury.—But no such inebriate, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits shall be compelled by the provisions of the preceding section to remain in said hospital or sanitarium for a period exceeding four months, without his or her consent, entered in writing on the records of such private hospital or sanitarium; but, nothing in this or the preceding section shall be construed so as to prevent any person, who shall find himself or herself aggrieved by the judgment of the justices aforesaid, from appealing to the Circuit Court of the county or Corporation Court of the city in which he or she may reside, and the said appeal shall be allowed as a matter of right, and the said court shall proceed, without delay, and without any formal pleadings, to review the said proceedings, and the party accused shall have the right of trial by jury to ascertain the fact whether or not he or she is an habitual drunkard, opium eater or addicted to other drug habits, and lost to self-control. If the jury aforesaid shall, by their verdict, decide that the accused is not an habitual drunkard, opium eater or addicted to other drug habits and lost to self-control, the said court shall enter an order dismissing the whole proceeding. All costs of the proceedings, whether before the justice or the court, shall be ordered to be paid by those making the complaint. (Id. § 1071.)

258. Rights of Person Proceeded Against; Fitness of Sanitarium; Appeal; What Order Court Shall Enter.—The person proceeded against shall have the right to be heard in opposition to the proceedings, and upon all questions arising therein, both before the justices and the courts, and shall have the right to be given the opportunity to employ counsel to represent him. The justices shall, before making an order of commitment, inquire and ascertain whether the private hospital or sanitarium to which it is proposed to commit the person proceeded against is a fit and proper institution to have the care of such person, and shall in their order of commitment designate the particular hospital or sanitarium to which the person proceeded against is to be committed, and which they shall find to be a proper institution to have the charge of such person; and the person committed shall have, as a matter of right, the right to appeal from the judgment of the justices aforesaid in respect to the fitness of the institution to which he may be committed, to the circuit court of the county or to the corporation court of the city in which the proceedings may be had; and upon such appeal the court shall review the question whether the private hospital or sanitarium designated by the justices is a fit and proper institution to have the care of the person so committed by them. If the court shall be of the opinion that the private hospital or sanitarium designated by the justices is a fit and proper institution, it shall affirm their judgment in that respect. But if the said court shall find that the private hospital or sanitarium designated by the justices is not a fit and proper institution to have the care of the person committed, and if the court shall, by the verdict of the jury, further find that the person proceeded against is an habitual drunkard, opium eater or person addicted to the use of other drugs and lost to self-control, then the court shall have power to inquire and ascertain some other private hospital or sanitarium proper and fit to take charge of the person proceeded against; and the court shall in such case, by its order, designate and appoint such other private hospital or sanitarium to take charge of such person in lieu and in place of the one designated by the said justices. (Id. § 1072.)

259. Duty of Sheriff, Other Officer or Person Who Has Charge of Any Person Committed to a Private Sanitarium; Right of Private Sanitarium to Receive Such Persons so Committed and Voluntarily.—The said justices or, in case of an appeal as provided for in the foregoing section and a decision by the jury that the accused is an habitual drunkard, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits and lost to self-control, the court may appoint the sheriff of the county or sergeant of the city in which the proceedings are held, or other proper officer named in the order of commitment, to take and convey the person against whom the proceedings are to the private hospital or sanitarium to which such person is committed by the said justices or court; and it shall be the duty of such sheriff or other officer to take charge of the said inebriate or opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits, and deliver him to the authorities of the said private hospital or sanitarium; or the justices or court may, in their order of commitment, appoint such person as the said private hospital or sanitarium may name to receive the said inebriate, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits, and deliver him to the authorities of the said hospital or sanitarium; and upon any such commitment the authorities of the private hospital or sanitarium to whom such person may be committed as aforesaid shall have power to receive and detain such person for the period for which he may be committed, not exceeding the term of four months at any one time; and the authorities of any private hospital or sanitarium may likewise receive and detain any inebriate, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits and lost to self-control, who may voluntarily enter such hospital or sanitarium as a patient: provided, such person shall enter upon the records of such institution his or her consent to remain in such institution for the period of time for which such person may so consent in writing to remain in such hospital or sanitarium. (Id. § 1073.)

260. Justices Committing Inebriates, Opium Eaters, Etc., to Certify Fact to the Circuit Court; Appointment of Committee; Bond, Report by Committee.—The justices committing an inebriate, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits to a private sanitarium shall, at the time of such commitment, certify to the circuit court of the county or the corporation court of the city, as the case may be, the fact of such committal; and the said court shall have power to appoint a committee to take charge of the estate, real and personal, of said inebriate, opium eater or person addicted to other drug habits; said committee shall execute a bond with such security as the court may require, conditioned, for the faithful discharge of his duties; and he shall report to the said court the time and circumstances of the release of such inebriate from the private hospital or sanitarium to which he may have been sent; and upon such report, if satisfactory, and upon a settlement of his accounts, the said committee may be released from further responsibility. (Id. § 1074.)

Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the manufacture and transportation for sale outside of the State, of the extract, essence, or tincture of Jamaica ginger, into territory where the same may be legally sold. (Id. § 4675 (64).)

293. To Provide for the Transportation of Wine Into Virginia in Interstate Commerce and Its Use in the Manufacture of Beverages Containing Less Than One-Half of One Per Centum of Alcohol by Volume; When Permitted.—Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the transportation into the State of Virginia in interstate commerce of liquids such as wines, fruit juices, or other materials permitted to be used and transported under the provisions of the national prohibition act, and its use in the manufacture of beverages containing less than one-half of one per centum of alcohol of [by] volume, under restrictions and provisions as follows: A manufacturer, who has been licensed under the laws of the State of Virginia as a manufacturer of flavoring extracts, et cetera, and of any beverage containing less than one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume, may, on making application and giving such bond as the Commissioner of Prohibition may prescribe, be given a permit to develop in the manufacture thereof by the usual methods of fermentation and fortification, or to transport in interstate commerce into the State of Virginia liquids such as wines, fruit juices or other materials permitted to be used and transported under the provisions of the national prohibition laws, containing more than one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume, but before any such liquid is withdrawn from the factory or otherwise disposed of the alcoholic contents thereof shall, under such rules and regulations as the Commissioner of Prohibition may prescribe, be reduced below one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume, provided that such liquid shall be transported into the State of Virginia in interstate commerce and may be removed, under such bond, and under such other regulations as the Commissioner of Prohibition may prescribe, from one bonded plant or warehouse to another, for the purpose of having the alcohol extracted therefrom; the alcohol so extracted may, under rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner of Prohibition of Virginia, be used for any purpose permitted under the laws of the State of Virginia.

In any case where the manufacturer, having been permitted by the Commissioner of Prohibition to transport into Virginia or develop by the usual methods of fermentation or fortification liquids such as wines, fruit juices, or other materials permitted to be used or transported under the provisions of the national prohibition laws, containing more than one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume, in the manner and for the purpose herein provided, is charged with failure to reduce the alcoholic contents of any such liquid below one-half of one per centum before withdrawing the same from the factory, then in such case the burden of proof shall be on such manufacturer to show that such liquid so manufactured, sold or withdrawn contains less than one-half of one per centum of alcohol by volume. In any suit or proceedings involving the alcoholic contents of any such beverages the reasonable expense of analysis of such beverage shall be taxed as costs in the case. (Id. § 4675(65).)

Such affidavit shall be filed and preserved by the druggist selling the alcohol and wine and be subject to inspection at all times by any State, county, or municipal officer, their deputies or inspectors, and a record thereof made by such druggist in the record book for affidavits and prescriptions herein mentioned, showing date of affidavit, by whom made, the quantity of such alcohol or wine, and when, where, for what purpose and by whom to be used. Only one sale shall be made upon such affidavit, and for no greater quantity than is therein specified. The person offering said prescription to be filled, or making said affidavit, shall certify to the correctness of the record in said record book by recording his signature opposite said record of said prescription or affidavit. For the purpose of this act, any registered druggist or pharmacist making such sale shall have authority to administer the oaths required by this section.

If any druggist, owner of a drug store, registered pharmacist, or clerk, or employee shall, knowingly sell or give away such alcohol, or other ardent spirits, to any one to be used for any purpose other than that named in said prescription or affidavit (provided that no ardent spirits other than alcohol for mechanical or pharmaceutical, or wine for sacramental purposes, or such preparations as are permitted to be manufactured and sold under section fifty-nine of this act (§ 4675(60) of this Code), shall be sold except upon prescription), or shall sell or give away any ardent spirits other than preparations permitted to be manufactured and sold under section fifty-nine of this act (§ 4675(60) of this Code), without such prescription or affidavit, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and in addition to the penalty prescribed for a misdemeanor by this act, the license of such druggist to sell ardent spirits shall be revoked by the court for the period of one year, and all ardent spirits in possession of said druggist or in the said drug store, or on the premises connected therewith, shall be turned over by order of the court to the commissioner; for a subsequent offense, in addition to the penalty prescribed for a misdemeanor by this act, the license of said druggist to practice pharmacy shall be revoked forthwith, and all ardent spirits in the possession of said druggist, or in the said drug store, or on the premises connected therewith, shall forthwith be by order of the court turned over to the commissioner and the court shall forthwith certify the fact of the revocation of said license to the authority granting such license, which order of revocation shall forthwith be made a matter of record by said authority, and shall act to a bar to the granting of license to said druggist in the future. (Id. § 4675(66).)

295. Presumptions Upon Sale by Druggists, Et Cetera, Unlawful Sales by Employees Without Employer's Knowledge; Penalties for Failure to Discharge Convicted Employees.—In any prosecution against a druggist, owner of a drug store, registered pharmacist, clerk or employee, for selling or giving away ardent spirits contrary to law, if such sale or gift be proven, it shall be presumed to be unlawful in the absence of satisfactory proof to the contrary, but the presentation of such prescription or affidavit by the defendant on trial shall be sufficient to rebut the presumption arising from the proof of such sale or gift; provided that the jury shall believe from all the evidence in the case that such sale or gift was made in good faith under the belief that such prescription or affidavit and the statements therein were true; and provided further, that such druggist, owner of a drug store, registered pharmacist, clerk or employee shall have complied with all other provisions of this act relating to such sale or gift; and provided further, that if any clerk or employee in a drug store other than the druggist, owner of said drug store, shall sell or give away any ardent spirits contrary to the provisions of this act, upon conviction of said clerk or employee, said druggist, or owner of said drug store, may before trial and the revocation of the license and before the ardent spirits in his possession are turned over to the commissioner as required in section nine,* be permitted to present to the court evidence that said sale or gift was without his knowledge, consent, acquiescence or connivance, and if the court is convinced from said evidence that said druggist, or owner of said drug store was not in any sense a party to the violation of this act by his clerk or other employee, then said druggist, or owner of a drug store shall not be deemed guilty of the violation of said section nine of this act by reason of the violation thereof by his clerk or employee.

If any druggist or owner of a drug store, who has been duly notified that any clerk or employee has been convicted of a violation of any of the provisions of this section, shall fail at once to discharge said clerk or employee permanently, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction, shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, and for any subsequent offense shall be fined not less than one hundred nor more than five hundred dollars, and be confined in jail not less than one nor more than six months, and if any registered pharmacist shall be convicted of the violation of this section, he shall, in addition to the penalties provided for such violation, forfeit his license as a registered pharmacist for a period of two years. (Id. § 4675(67).)

296. Indictments Against Druggists.—While any good and sufficient indictment may be used, an indictment against any druggist, owner of a drug store, registered pharmacist, clerk or employee, for any offense committed under the provisions of this act relating to druggist, shall be sufficient if substantially in the form and to the effect following:

"Commonwealth of Virginia,

*There seems to be a clerical error here as there is no such requirement in § 9 of the act, which is § 4675(9) of the Code. Reference probably is to § 4675(66) of this Code. See No. 294.

And if it be a second offense, it shall be so stated in the indictment returned, and the prosecuting attorney shall introduce before the trial court evidence of said former conviction, and shall not be permitted to use his discretion in charging said second offense, or in introducing evidence or proving the same on the trial: Provided, that the failure to charge a former conviction shall not invalidate the indictment.

If the offense is committed in a city, the word city shall be substituted for county, the court having jurisdiction substituted for Circuit Court, and the name of the city for the name of the county. (Id. § 4675 (68).)

297. Affidavit by Person of Intemperate Habits, Use Other Than Stated in Affidavit.—If any person who is of intemperate habits or addicted to the use of any narcotic drug shall make the affidavit hereinbefore mentioned, or if any person making such affidavit shall use as a beverage, or for any purpose, or at any place other than that stated in the affidavit, or shall knowingly permit another to make use of said alcohol or wine, or any part thereof, or shall knowingly make any false statement in such affidavit, he shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. (Id. § 4675 (69).)

298. When Issue of Prescriptions by Physicians Unlawful, Penalty.—If any physician who is not in active practice, or who is not in good standing in his profession, or who is of intemperate habits, or addicted to the use of any narcotic drug shall issue any such prescription as is mentioned in this act, or if any physician shall issue such prescription without at the time making a careful, personal physical examination of the person for whom the ardent spirits are prescribed, or shall prescribe such ardent spirits for any person who he knows or has reason to believe is in the habit of drinking to intoxication, unless it is prescribed bona fide and solely for medicinal purposes as a necessary treatment, when the patient is confined to his bed or in some hospital or institution as a result of alcoholism, or shall in his prescription make any false statement, or shall prescribe ardent spirits when such ardent spirits are plainly not a remedy, or shall prescribe more than two quarts of alcohol, or one gallon of malt or vinous liquor or one pint of brandy or whiskey, or shall resort to any shift or device by which ardent spirits may be improperly procured, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and in addition to the penalty prescribed for a misdemeanor by this act, for the first offense under this act, the court may in its discretion suspend the license of such physician for a period of six months, and for a second offense in addition to the penalty prescribed for a misdemeanor by this act the court shall suspend such license for a period of twelve months and for any subsequent offense in addition to the penalty prescribed for a misdemeanor by this act, the court shall forthwith revoke the license of said physician, and shall forthwith certify the facts of the revocation of said license to the authority granting said license, which order of revocation shall forthwith be made a matter of record by said authority, and shall act as a bar to the granting of license to said physician in the future. (Id. § 4675 (70).)

299. When Records, Prescriptions, Affidavits and Reports Not Required; Access to by Officers.—This act is subject to the following, however: that wherever and whenever its requirements are such as to make necessary the keeping of records which are in effect duplicate of records required under provisions of the national prohibition act; and provides for the filing of prescriptions and affidavits in any manner different from prescriptions and affidavits provided for by the national prohibition act, but in effect duplicating the record so provided for by the national prohibition act; and provides for the filing of monthly reports by pharmacists and others with the clerks of the Circuit Courts of counties or with the clerks of the Corporation or Hustings Court of cities, which reports are in effect duplicates of reports required to be filed with the Federal Prohibition Director for Virginia, in accordance with provisions of the national prohibition act; such records, prescriptions, affidavits and reports shall not be required. It is deemed sufficient if the licensee under this act keep such records, keep on file such prescriptions, and make such reports, as are provided for in the national prohibition act; and any officer authorized to enforce the provisions of this act shall have access to all such records, files and reports aforementioned at any reasonable hour. (Id. § 4675 (72).)

*Number of section is also omitted in § 72 of chapter 407, Acts of 1924, codified as § 4675 (73). Probably means section codified as 4675 (60). See No. 288.

Before making application for such license notice must be posted and continuously kept on the front door of the store or place of business in which the privilege is to be exercised for at least thirty days before making the application, stating the court before which and the time at which the application will be made for license to sell pure fruit, ethyl and grain alcohol, wine for sacramental purposes, and other ardent spirits. Such notice shall be published once a week for three successive weeks in some newspaper published in the county or city, and if there is no newspaper published in the county in which the privilege is to be exercised, the notice shall be published in some newspaper having general circulation therein and shall be posted for twenty days on the front door of the courthouse of said county.

Before the court shall grant any license, the judge thereof shall be satisfied that the person making the application is a qualified voter of the State, is of good moral character, is a registered pharmacist in good standing, that he has in his drug store belonging to him, and not including patent medicines and drugs to be sold on commission, drugs of the value of one thousand dollars (wholesale price), provided that in towns of less than five hundred inhabitants the value of the stock of drugs referred to above shall be not less than five hundred dollars, wholesale value, and carries on in good faith the business of a druggist; that he is not of intemperate habits or addicted to the use of any narcotic drug; that he is a person of good character and will observe the laws controlling the sale of ardent spirits and alcohol; that the applicant has presented satisfactory proof that there is a necessity existing for the granting of such license, and that the sale of ardent spirits at that place and by the applicant will not be contrary to sound public policy or injurious to the moral or material interests of the community. And, provided, further, that in no case shall a license be granted if a majority of the voters qualified to vote at the last preceding election petition the court not to grant any such license in the following cases, namely: In a town of over one thousand inhabitants the petition shall be signed by a majority of the qualified voters of such town; in a town under one thousand inhabitants, the petition shall be signed by a majority of said qualified voters of the town or magisterial district in which said town is situated; if in the district the petition shall be signed by a majority of said qualified voters of the magisterial district and towns of less than one thousand inhabitants in said magisterial district; provided, that where license has been refused an applicant under the provisions of this section no further application for license may be made by the same applicant within two years nor by any other applicant where the petition of voters presented to the court is not alone directed against the granting of license to the particular person, but is also against the granting of a license to any person within the territory covered by the petition. Any license granted under this section may be revoked at any time by the court granting the same for cause, and after two years from the date of issue upon the petition provided for in this section, provided that where there was another licensed under this section in the territory covered by the petition, and the petition was against the granting of license on account of the fact that there was already a licensee doing business and such licensee has discontinued business, application may be renewed by the same or another applicant unless the petition was against granting the license to the particular applicant.

The court may also in its discretion issue to any wholesale druggist who is a qualified voter of the State and of good moral character, a license to sell pure grain, ethyl, and fruit alcohol, to any druggist, or other person for scientific, pharmaceutical and mechanical purposes or wine for sacramental purposes under the provisions of section nine of this act*; and pure grain, ethyl, and fruit alcohol, wine for sacramental purposes, or other ardent spirits to retail druggists in Virginia only, licensed under this act, and pure grain, ethyl, or fruit alcohol to retail druggists outside of the State of Virginia, where the sale thereof is permitted by law; provided, that any citizen may appear personally or by counsel in opposition to the granting of any license herein provided for, provided, that the provisions of this section shall not be construed to require a license for the purchase or sale of the preparations permitted to be manufactured and sold under section fifty-nine of this act (§ 4675(60) of this Code). Each retail and wholesale druggist shall file a sworn statement with the clerk of the court granting the license on or before the fifth of each month, stating the amount of pure fruit, ethyl and grain alcohol, wine or other ardent spirits, other than preparations permitted to be manufactured and sold under section eight-b of this act,† on hand the first of the previous month, the amount received during the previous month, and the amount on hand the date the statement is made. Nothing in this act shall prevent the superintendent of a hospital from ordering, purchasing or receiving ardent spirits or the superintendent of a chemical laboratory from ordering, purchasing or receiving pure grain, ethyl or pure fruit alcohol for the use of the hospital or laboratory, not to be used contrary to the provisions of this act, and nothing shall prevent common carriers from transporting and delivering such ardent spirits and alcohol to such hospitals or laboratories having license to order and receive the same, under a permit from the commissioner, but before ordering or receiving said ardent spirits other than preparations permitted to be manufactured and sold under section eight-b of this act† before ordering or receiving said alcohol, the hospital or laboratory shall procure license from the court under the same conditions as license is granted to druggists; provided, further, that it shall be unlawful for any hospital to sell ardent spirits, other than preparations permitted to be manufactured and sold under section eight-b of this act,† except upon prescription of its own patients under the same restrictions and reports required of druggists; and, provided, further, that chemical laboratories shall make report as required by druggists of the disposition and use of all alcohol received by them.

No pharmacist licensed under the provisions of this act shall charge more than one hundred per centum gross profit on any medicinal or sacramental ardent spirits sold hereunder, and a violation of this provision shall work a forfeiture of his license; but no druggist shall dispense any but pure liquor of standard proof.

If the license is granted the applicant shall give bond in the penalty of not less than one thousand dollars, nor more than ten thousand dollars, as the court may require, with security to be approved by the court and with condition that he will not dispense or sell any ardent spirits or alcohol, except under and in accordance with the provisions of this act.

The court may also on its discretion issue a license as heretofore provided, to a corporation engaged in the retail drug business in this State under the provisions of this section, provided, the said corporation has a capital stock of not less than two thousand dollars fully paid and, provided, further, that the said registered pharmacist is in good standing, is of good moral character; that he is not of intemperate habits or addicted to the use of any narcotic drug; that he is a person of good character and will observe the laws controlling the sale of ardent spirits and alcohol, and, provided, further, the said registered pharmacist shall personally supervise the filling of all prescriptions for the sale of ardent spirits. (Id. § 4675 (73).)

Issue of License to Partnership Engaged in Retail Drug Business.—The court may also, in its discretion, issue a license as provided in section seventy-two [§ 4675(73)] hereof, to a partnership or to an individual engaged in the retail drug business in this State under the provisions of the said section; provided, the said partnership or individual has a capital of not less than two thousand dollars fully paid; and provided, further, that the registered pharmacist in charge of the said drug business is in good standing and of good moral character, that he is not of intemperate habits or addicted to the use of any narcotic drug; that he is a person who will observe the laws controlling the sale of ardent spirits and alcohol; and, provided, further, that the said registered pharmacist shall personally supervise the filling of all prescriptions for the sale of ardent spirits. (Code Supp. 1926, § 4675 (73½).)

302. Shipment of Ardent Spirits to Pharmacists; Records to be Kept by Transportation Company.—Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent a duly licensed pharmacist under this (act?) from having shipped to him, or to prevent any transportation company from delivering to him under a permit from the commissioner, pure fruit, ethyl, and grain alcohol, wine or other ardent spirits, in such quantities and at such times as said pharmacist licensed under this act may deem necessary. But before any shipment is delivered, the consignee shall sign a record, to be made and kept by the transportation company, which shall state the name of the shipper, the kind and quantity of the ardent spirits shipped, the date of shipment and of delivery, and the consignee shall make affidavit before some person authorized to administer an oath that the pure fruit, ethyl and grain alcohol, wine or other ardent spirits included in the shipment are to be sold, dispensed or used according to the provisions of this act. Any registered pharmacist licensed under this act, failing to comply with any of the provisions of this section, or who shall make a false affidavit, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. Provided, the provisions of this act shall not be construed to require a permit for the transportation or the keeping records by a transportation company of any of the articles permitted to be manufactured and sold under section . . . of this act.*

The commissioner shall specify in each permit the kind and quantity of ardent spirits to be transported under it, and the purpose for which it is to be used. It shall be lawful for any common carrier or transportation company to transport any ardent spirits which has upon the container a permit of the commission[er]. But before the ardent spirits shall be delivered to the consignee he shall make affidavit that he is the person named in the permit and that he will use ardent spirits for the purposes named therein. The commissioner shall keep in his office a copy of every original permit, a duly certified copy of which shall be evidence of what it contains, in any prosecution for violation of this act.

The affidavits of the consignee shall be kept filed and be subject to inspection as other affidavits under this act.

It shall be unlawful for any common carrier or transportation company to transport ardent spirits for any physician, dentist, veterinary surgeon, superintendent of a hospital or superintendent of a laboratory without a permit of the commissioner pasted on the outside of the container.
